

Use the series of questions to shape your prayers as you reflect upon the Word of God. Readings are provided over a three year period for each Monday of the week. Set aside the time you need at a regular time during your day, when you can read through the assigned section of Scripture. Then spend time working through the questions provided below. Print copies of this guide or use a journal to write your responses to the questions and the prayer for that week.

Assigned Reading for Today: _____ Date: _____

Context Questions

What is the context of the reading(s) for today?

What did you notice as you read that you have not noticed before?

Does God offer any promises? Are the promises general (for all people) or specific to the particular situation?

Questions to Shape Your Prayer

What did you learn from the reading that you can thank God for?

Does the reading call you to confession or repentance in anyway?

Based on the passage what can you praise God for?

Based on your notes above, write a prayer for yourself and others that God has placed on your heart.
